

Whores 101

One

Satanists high up in the power hierarchy don't do the dirty work themselves. That's what whores are for. They are henchmen.

Satanic whoring is a global phenomenon. I won't speculate on the exact numbers, but if we count only the full-time whores, their number in Finland is in thousands.

Whores' main target are lay-people (people not in the club) and satanists who refuse to take part in satanic sacrificial rituals. Lays need to stay poisoned and ignorant. The whole satanic world order is built on torturing lays. Without lays everyone would be at war against each other. Someone has to suffer so that the majority can live a good life.

Full-time whores are the worst. They are the ones who torture lays. Poison their food, destroy their belongings, and steal their money. Whores do things like smear lay's apartment and clothes with substances that cause allergic reactions, making the lay suffer from symptoms like those caused by mold exposure, leaving him gasping for air. Full-time whores are essentially professional torturers. You couldn't call them mercenaries, because they only harass helpless citizens. Many of these full-timers are likely sadists.

Then there are part-time whores who do little things here and there. They carry out surveillance or gang stalking operations, which could simply be called persecution. Part-timers' number is large. Anyone who belongs to the club can get their hands dirty if necessary.

In the satanic whore machine there are also lots of people, who are not whores in principle but in practise they do whoring if been paid to. These are people from all around society: doctors, police officers, civil servants, chefs, receptionists, business people, politicians and so on. Harassing lays is considered a standard that everyone is expected to engage in.

Someone who harasses lays without getting paid is just a very cheap whore. Of course, many times the payment is not money. It could be a job opportunity or elevated mind set

Two

I have a significant number of enemies whose power is vast and penetrates all levels of society. When I briefly joined the club in 2010, I was let in on all kinds of secrets. My memory was thoroughly erased, but it kept returning. It has also been predicted that I will become something huge. For these reasons I am under a close surveillance. The sheer scale of this project has made me somewhat famous, as people are curious why someone like me matters so much.

Using their whore machine, satanists terrorize my life in various ways. They block my access to mail, emails, phone calls, and text messages. They send messages in my name, carry out correspondence, and even answer and make calls using my number. They monitor my communications and movements through multiple methods.

They have also recorded my speech during phone conversations and, using hypnosis tricks, made me say things they wanted. They compile different clips from these recordings to create audio files that they then use to respond to my calls. Nowadays, this may also be done with the help of AI.

Whores can also add content to my social media pages. Content that I haven't uploaded myself and cannot even see. They respond to messages addressed to me, saying that I don't want contact with anyone. They insult people in my name, turning them against me. The goal is to build a bubble around me where others know everything (all the lies) about me, while I go through life blindfolded.

The surveillance has reached massive proportions. New whores are constantly needed to monitor me because I take photos of them and publish them online. An exposed whore can't really continue following me, since surveillance is supposed to be secret. It is also illegal activity in itself.

Wherever I go, there's always a whore - or several - present. Often they operate in pairs, which makes it easier to follow me. Then there are the local whores who watch me while I sit in a gas station café. They just "keep an eye" to make sure "everything goes smoothly". Some of them are laid-back, while others live in their own reality where they believe they are secret agents carrying out an important mission.

I cannot stand being followed everywhere I go. At least by taking photos, I can throw a small wrench into the gears. Not that anyone seems to care. The more years go by, the more people have gotten involved in this "whore project". And all the members of the club who follow my life via the forums and websites created for this persecution project are also indirectly involved.

Of course, it would be a different matter if I were able to bring my stalkers to court to answer for their actions. But it would turn into such a colossal case that handling it would be impossible. No one would agree to process it. The police and the justice system simply don't have the resources. And the current world order couldn't withstand a scenario where satanic reality collides with the rule of law. The truth is, every satanist is a criminal - to varying degrees.

Three

My life is being sabotaged in many ways. But someone somewhere is setting limits to it. It would have to be an extraterrestrial entity, since human life is governed and ruled by the satanic club. There is no other club or group on Earth and among humans that could compete with satanists. They rule here, but some unknown force is controlling them.
